

CIROP MEASURE

A Tool to Measure the Community Impacts of Research Oriented Partnerships

Description:

The CIROP Measure is a 33-item, generic tool designed to measure the impact of research partnerships (in the social and health service sectors) from the perspective of community members (i.e., those receiving information or services from the partnership...you). Community members also have important influences on research partnerships by contributing their skills, knowledge, and insights. For the purpose of this questionnaire, however, the focus is on how, and to what extent, a specific research partnership has had an influence on you, your organization or group, and your community.

The CIROP Measure informs research partnerships about the extent of their impact they have had on their target audiences in the areas of 1) Personal Knowledge Development, 2) Personal Research Skill Development, 3) Organizational/Group Access To and Use of Information, and 4) Community and Organizational Development.

To Reference the CIROP Measure:

INSTRUCTIONS

The purpose of this tool is to gather information on how a specific research partnership may have influenced or benefited you, your organization, and/or your community.

The CIROP Measure consists of a list of statements about the possible benefits of a research partnership. For each item, please respond by checking a circle above one number from 1 (Not at All) to 7 (To a Very Great Extent) that best fits your experiences.

Please complete all questions. If a question does not apply, you should indicate this by checking the corresponding circle. If you do not know the answer to a question, you should indicate this by checking the "Don't Know" option.

Please fill in the blank or check (e.g.,) the most appropriate option for each question.
